In the first place, Mrs. Catt has been tested thoroughly, and Miss Anthony thinks her organizing abilities are simply been tested thoroughly, and Miss Anthony thinks her organizing abilities are simply wonderful. If she has executive ability in proportion, her friends believe that she will be a second Miss Anthony. Mrs. Catt is a beautiful wonan, tall and slender and graceful, a lover of rich attire, and with the means to gratify all her artistic tastes. She is western born, claiming lowa as her native state, and is happly married to Mr. George A. Catt, vice president of the New York and San Francisco Dredging Company, and their home is in New York city. She is a noted housekeeper and a fine cook. She says with much pride that there has never been a pie baked in her house. She has but one passion, and that is love for her flowers. She finds among them her only recreation. Mrs. Catt is that rare thing among women, an orator. Her voice is deep and musical, clear and penetrating. In a quiet, almost conversational tone, she speaks logically and convincingly, one might almost say inspiringly. She is young yet, to have made the record that she has as a speaker and an organizer, and with the meeting place, and the calaymores are transformed into typewriters. After this important matter comes the selection of a president. It will be a difficult position to fill now. In fact, it always has been, but in the two times ten years, and then some more, that Miss Anthony has been at the head of the organization she has held it down to the one simple proposition of franchise for women. Many of the original followers have gone off after false gods, some stranded on politics, others on religion, others on policy of management, but Miss Anthony was as true to her first love as the needle to the pole, and therein has been her great strength. Secretary Long on the Proposed Purchase of the Holland.

DEFENDS THE CONSTRUCTION BOARD

Says That Its Members Are Looking After the Government's Interests.

THE DEPARTMENT'S ATTITUDE

Secretary Long explains the position of the Navy Department with regard to the controversy over the proposed purchase of the submarine torpedo boat Holland in the following letter addressed to a correspond-receipt of your letter of the 25th instan relative to the report of the board on con struction and the proposal of the Holian Torpedo Boat Company to sell to the gov ernment its submarine torpedo boat Hol land and build for it another vessel o similar type, or to construct two such ne

"In reply I have to state that the de partment has given and will continue to partment has given and will continue to give the matter careful attention, feeling that, although this sort of vessel is still in experimental stage, it is entitled, in the interest of naval construction and enterprise, to thorough consideration. Indeed, the department made a contract with the Holland company as long ago as March 12, 1895, for the construction of one of its submarine boats, the Plunger, which has not yet been finished, although the time for its completion expired several years ago. years ago.

Trials of the Holland.

"During the Spanish-American war th department had an examination made of he Holland, and, after correspondence with the Holland, and, after correspondence with the company, complied with its request in a letter to it, dated May 3, 1898, to order a board to witness a trial of that boat. In accordance with the recommendation of the board on construction certain requirements were named which the boat ought to fulfill. It was found, however, that this trial could not be made by the company as soon as expected, and, under date of June 15, 1898, the requirements aforesaid were somewhat modified, as set forth in a letter to the company of that date, in which was embodied the following clause, to wit:

to wit:

"It is to be distinctly understood, however, that the department is to be at no expense on account of said tests aside from furnishing the Whitehead torpedo for use during the same, nor does the department, by consenting to witness such further tests, in any way commit itself as to its future action concerning the Holland submarine hoat."

The board selected by the departmen was the board of inspection and survey. The trial was made November 12, 1898. The The trial was made November 12, 1898. The boat was then found deficient in several respects. After correspondence with the company it was decided that the board should witness a further trial, and this, after several postponements, was made November 6, 1899. It was then found that the boat made a very creditable showing, and, under date of the 23d of that month, the company submitted its proposal above mentioned.

Attitude of the Board.

"You are in error in the impression that the members of the board on construction, to which this whole matter was referred-and no more competent board could be seand no more competent board could be selected—are hostile to the adoption of any form of submarine boat for the naval service. I am sure that, with better knowledge of them and of their faithful discharge of any duty assigned them, you will gladly recall your suggestion that they have made an 'unfair and unjust report.' They are cautious not to recommend haste in this matter until the interests of the government are properly guarded by securing the best practicable development. The report of the majority of the board, which is less favorable to the company than that of the chief constructor, who is a member of the board, simply recommends that no further contract be made until the company shall have made some satisfactory settlement concerning the delivery of the submarine boat Plunger, above referred to, the contract for which required its completion within twelve months from March 12, 1895. Under that contract the sum of $99,716.50 has already been paid. The majority report suggests that when the Plunger matter shall have been satisfactorily adjusted it will be time enough to consider the company's present proposal, and that in case of such adjustment the department will be pany's present proposal, and that in case of such adjustment the department will be justified, if the law permits, in making a contract, under proper guarantees and specifications, for one vessel of the larger size offered by the company, and in thus aiding in the development of the submarine boots.

The Question Raised by the Board. "The question raised by the board is simply one as to the wisdom of making contracts for more than one of these boots simply one as to the wisdom of making contracts for more than one of these boats under present circumstances. In this connection it should be borne in mind, as appears from the above quoted extract from the department's letter of June 15, 1898, that the requirements suggested by the department for fulfillment by the Holland were not of the nature of an agreement to accept her if she should meet them, and that, therefore, the government is not only under no obligation to buy her because of her performance of them, but is not in any way committed to such an obligation.

"The majority of the board on construction purposely refrained from any criticism or discussion of the merits of the Holland, or of the possibilities of submarine boats in general; but it is difficult to escape their conclusion that it would not be a profitable business transaction to buy the Holland at the same price, $170,000, for which the company offers to build new and larger boats.

"In view of the matters herein set forth, I am convinced that you will see that the action of the board on construction has been misapprehended by you, and that the interests of the Holland Torpedo Boat Company are not unjustly affected by its recommendations. The department by no means regards the matter as concluded, but holds it in abeyance for the present, desiring additional light. It is possible that this may be derived from the further tests which, it is reported, are to be made of the Holland in this city at an early date.

"Very respectfully,
(Signed) "JOHN D. LONG,"

WHY MR. MONSON LEFT PARIS. British Ambassador Was Offended at

to France, left Paris for the south on leave of absence. The announcement is generally regarded as important. Coming on top of the known anti-British feeling in France, it is thought the departure of the ambassador from his post at the present juncture indicates more than appears on the surface, or than is contained in the official said. "The French reace, or than is contained in the official said." The French adiplomatic official said. "The French respiration.

A diplomatic official said. "The French respiration." A diplomatic official said. "The French respiration of friendliness to Great Britain, but it is unable to make a display of its real sentiments just now, because a demonstration of friendliness to Great Britain would be an act of suicide. "The bestowal of Cross of the Legion of Honor on the artist Leandre, author of the outrageous carleatures of Queen Victoria, furnished an example of the government selling Leandre had been promised the decoration before he carleatured Queen Victoria, and the government felt it would be safer to offend the English people than the sentiment of its own countrymen. In view of this situation, Sir Edmund thought his temporary absence from the anglophobic air of Paris would have a salutary effect."

A dispatch from Berlin says: A singular campaign against the French press, is continued by leading German journals. What these organs attempt to make out is that endeavors are being made by France to sow distrust between England and Germany, with the object of Isolating Germany and attracting England to side with the dual alliance. Some German journals go so far as to trace Pan-Slavist machinations, in various sections of the European press.

RAIN FOLLOWED BY FAIR. Light to Fresh Southerly, Shifting to Westerly Winds.

Forecast till 8 p.m. Wednesday-For the District of Columbia, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, rain, followed tonight and Wednesday by fair; light to fresh southerly, shifting to westerly winds.

ly, shifting to westerly winds.

Weather conditions and general forecast—The storm which was central off Cape Cod Monday morning has moved northeastward over Nova Scotia, its passage being followed by clearing weather and diminishing northwesterly winds along the middle Atlantic and New England coasts.

Rain has fallen in a trough of low barometer which extends from the lake regions over the Ohio valley and the gulf states. The barometer is very low on the northeastern Rocky mountain slope, and rain has fallen in the north Pacific coast states. The temperature is above the seasonal average, except in New England, and in an area extending from the upper lake region over Kansas. In Montana and the western Dakotas the temperature is 20 to 30 degrees above the normal.

During the next twenty-four hours the rain area will probably move eastward over the Atlantic coast states and be followed by clearing weather in those districts. Clearing and cooler weather is indicated for the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys and the lower lake region. During Wednesday rain is likely to occur in the east gulf and south Atlantic states, and fair weather is indicated for the middle and north Atlantic states.

Along the New England coast the winds will she fresh to brisk from the south, shifting to southwesterly. On the middle Atlantic coast light to fresh southerly winds will shift to westerly. On the south Ating to southwesterly. On the middle Atlantic coast light to fresh southerly winds will shift to westerly. On the south Atlantic coast the winds will be mostly light from the cast.

Glendie Company K, commanded by Capt. Glendie B. Young, and served throughout the campaign in Cuba with his regiment. He contracted the Cuban fever as a result of the campaign, but in a short period he apparently regained his accustomed health and joined the regular army. He enlisted as a private in Troop F of the 6th United States Cavalry, and had been stationed at the Presidio, California. A few days ago he obtained his discharge and was on his way home when death overtook him at Kearney, Neb. Mr. Scott had many friends in this city, who will be grieved to hear of his death.

For fast driving William Chase was to-day arraigned in the Police Court. The evidence was against him, and Judge Scott fined him $10 or sixty days on the farm.

FINANCIAL.

International Zinc Co., Ltd.

Yields 14% on the Present Cost of Shares.

THIS IS THE ONLY ZINC-MINING COMPANY, n the United States giving regularly to its stockhelders exact reports and full knowledge of the condition of their property. The well-known Charred Accountants, BARROW, WADE, GUTHRIE & CO. of New York and Chicago, supervise the company's accounts, and issue quarterly to the stockholders statements of earnings and net profits, certified by them as correct.

IT IS NOW EARNING 22 PER CENT on its capital, and will nearly double this as soon as the four new mills now under way are completed.

IT IS NOW PAYING DIVIDENDS equal to those paid by the highest capitalized companies in the zinc fields, yet on a much smaller investment, which allows even the smallest investors to participate in the rich returns from zinc mining.

85c. PER SHARE,

To complete the balance of the purchase price and pay for the new mills now being built. The shares are of the par value of $1.00 each, and are fully paid and hon-assessable.

SEND FOR PROSPECTICS and once carefully the detailed account and BARROW, WADE, GUTH-RIE & CO.'S reports on the properties.
